Farm Bureau Official Information

55,000 COWS SOLD OUT OF WISCONSIN

Iowa Buyers in County Seeking
Two Carloads of Grade
Dairy Cattle.

Two buyers from Iowa, are in Rock county selecting carload lots of grade dairy cattle. Despite difficult travel conditions, a part of the lot have been secured. Any farmer having surplus cattle is urged to notify the Farm Bureau at once.

More than 55,000 of Wisconsin's elite dairy cattle bought railroad tickets last year. Exceeding by 15,000 the number that were sold to out-of-state buyers in 1923, shipments this year went to 43 states and many foreign countries. Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota were the heaviest domestic buyers, and Mexico the best of the foreign buyers.

"Areas of cheaper feed production are more interested in getting our dairy cattle," believes Reid Murray, secretary of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association. In commenting upon the fact that the bulk of the cattle went west instead of east, Iowa has increased the total number of dairy cattle from 6,000 to 14,000. Nebraska, North Dakota and Idaho have also increased their dairy population approximately 50 per cent.

"Much of this stock goes to establish new dairy herds in areas where farmers are becoming converts to diversified farming," says A.

Through the high standard of our cattle through careful breeding and selection, and by the steady progress in T. B. testing, Wisconsin has built up a reputation for high class dairy animals with the result that our cattle are now shipped all over the dairy world.

HORICON PROTESTS RELOCATING OF 26

Juneau—Residents of Horicon and vicinity are strongly opposed to the relocation of highway 26 as indicated by a communication from the Horicon Advancement association, read before the county board of supervisors at their meeting here. The state highway commission has planned to have highway 26, which now passes through Horicon and Mayville to Theresa, relocated to pass through Minnesota Junction, Burnett and Waupun.

The communication stated that the residents of Horicon were under the impression that at the time that they voted for the bond issue, highway 26 would be a permanent highway through their city. Highway 26 connects Janesville with highway 15 at Theresa, leading to the northern part of the state.

The board referred the matter to the county road and bridge committee, who will in turn refer the matter to the state road and bridge committee for definite action.

and a smooth-spoken stranger, with his foot on the doorsill offers to sell you "wonderful silk stockings at half the price you pay in stores"—or any other such "bargain"—when he claims to save you the extra cost of store advertising and store selling—when he intimates that everyone except himself is profiteering,

Think—

Do you know him? Has he a reputation to maintain? Are you sure he hasn't one to conceal? You know whom you're dealing with when you trade at home town stores.

Can you trust his word? Some of these peddlers, for instance, pass off clever but inferior imitations as "Full Fashioned" Hosiery. Home town merchants couldn't afford such deception.

Will you ever see him again? If the hosiery proves defective what can you do about it? Home town dealers make good on their merchandise.

Do you know the merchandise he sells? Who stands back of it? Home town merchants sell branded, nationally known merchandise.

Do you know you can buy better hosiery for the money in Janesville stores?

You can be sure of home town honesty—

A comparison of slick
agents' hosiery prices with
those of local merchants.

"Mock-fashioned" hosiery, such as agents sell at $5.00 per box ($1.25 per pair) can usually be bought at local stores for $1.10 per pair—in single pairs.

Real full-fashioned silk hosiery, which is always woven flat, then seamed up the back, will keep its shape after washing, because it is patterned (not pressed) to fit the ankle and calf of the leg snugly without strain. Ask the salesgirls to explain the difference to you.

Full-fashioned silk hosiery costs more to make than "mock-fashioned," but if purchased three pairs at a time can usually be had at about the same price. For $5.00 you can buy a box of three pairs of full-fashioned silk hose at almost any local store.

Dear Sir:
 I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in various hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. Every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, and I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never been constipated. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lansing, 1306 Jerles Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily in chronic cases with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring you relief, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the packages. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krambled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

GREEN PRODUCE IS SOMEWHAT SCARCE

Shipping Affected by Weather—Common Kinds Are Available.

On account of the difficulty in shipping during the last week, green produce on the local market is somewhat scarce, although all of the more common kinds can be had at the usual prices. New carrots are for sale in most places at 10 cents per bunch. The fall crop, such as has been on the market during the winter, remains at 5 cents pound.

Florida oranges are of very good quality, and are one of the leaders in the fruit line this week, selling considerably cheaper than California oranges of the same size. Large sizes are 38 to 40 cents dozen; medium, 29 cents; and smaller ones, 25 cents. Navel sell up to 60 cents, with the medium size at 45, and some of small size, as low as 20 cents. Grapefruit remains at last week's prices, ranging from 7 to 10 cents each, according to size. Most dealers are selling 3, 4 or 5 for 25 cents.

Most apples are 5 cents pound, with Jonathans at 5 or 9 cents, and Delicious at 10 cents. In bushel baskets, Baldwins are $1.70 to $1.85; Delicious, $2.25 to $2.50; Greenings, $1.45 to $1.70; and Jonathans, $2.25.

Other prices unchanged.
 Other prices remain the same as last week, with bananas at 15 to 15 cents pound, cranberries, 12 to 15 cents; strawberries, 65 to 70 cents; and lemons, 35 to 40 cents dozen. California grapes of fair quality are 25 to 30 cents, and imported Malins, 55 cents. Only a few dozen pears are left in town, and no more will be brought here this season. It is stated by wholesale men.

Green vegetables this week include head lettuce at 10 cents, spinach, 10 cents, and cauliflower, 10 cents.

Has No Substitute
 There's no substitute for Kraft Cheese. You'll hear the same old bunkum, "just as good," "just the same as Kraft Cheese," etc., but that sort of talk means just what it always has meant; that you are going to get something different unless you insist upon having what you called for. Why accept the "just as good" when you can have the real thing?

COMMENCEMENT
WEEK NEARS END

Climax Reached Tonight With Presentation of Diplomats
to 37.

Semi-annual commencement work at the local high school, which opened with the baccalaureate service Sunday afternoon, will come to close tonight, when 37 graduates will be presented with diplomas by Mrs. Helen Sutherland, president of the board of education.

The commencement address will be given by Supr. F. C. Holt. Rev. Charles Olson of St. Mary's church will open the program with the invocation, which will be followed by remarks by Principal W. M. Brown. The presentation of diplomas will be followed by the valedictory by Kenneth Leary, who will be delivered. Bessie Ellis, vice-president of the class, will present the class gift, which will be accepted, in the name of the school, by John Matheson. Presentation of the gift at commencement is a departure from the usual custom of giving it on class day.

Music during the ceremonies will be furnished by the girls' glee club and the boys' double quartet, consisting of Curtis Chase, Woodie Miller, L. E. Marchand, Edward Fisher, Egan Scott, Wayne Olson, Francis Bailey and Harold Pedersen.

Class Day Exercises
The auditorium was filled to capacity at the class day program Thursday afternoon. Half of the present being students.

In his welcoming address, the president of the class, Frederick Hyster, stated that the gift which the class wished to leave with the school more than any other was the spirit of integrity which has characterized it.

Presentation of the class history and prophecy each took a unique trend. The history was illustrated by the scenes passing through the mind of a dreamer, and through the recollection brought about when three former classmates met to re-read high school annuals. Those who took part were Harriet Gillingham, Esther Damerow, Woodie Miller and George Peske. Bessie Ellis, Edith Everman and Bernard Somerfelt also participated.

Arthur Malmberg presented the mace, as the symbol of the authority of the senior class, to Sven Sorenson, president of the new class, who placed the colors of his organization onto it. The class will, in which every member of the class was represented with some request, as well as a number of gifts by the class as a whole, was read by Maurice Kramer.

Following the address of the president, the high school band marched into the auditorium and played several selections, which were followed by cheers for three of their members, Lawrence Gower, Lillian Brohm and Dorrance Jensen, who are graduating. The high school orchestra opened the program with a selection.

Those who will receive their diplomas tonight are: Marian Bradford, Lillian Brohm, Frances Carlson, Curtis Chase, Harold J. Cunningham, La Verne T. FARM HAND TAKES LIFE BY HANGING

Hans Ona, Native of Norway,
Is Suicide at Cooks-
ville.

Mental derangement is the cause attributed for the suicide by hanging of Hans Ona, 45, a brother-in-law of Carl Holten, Sr., Cooks-ville, at the Fred Miller tenant house at 5 p. m., Thursday. Ona, a native of Norway, who came to this country last spring, was found hanging in the basement, by his sister, Mrs. Holten.

The Holten home was destroyed by fire Monday and the family have been living in the Miller home since that time. According to Coroner Lynn Whaley, Janesville, who investigated the death, Ona had been drinking heavily for some time and had passed several nights. Prior to Jan. 1 he had been employed by the Fairbanks-Morse company.

His wife and three children, now in Norway, where a brother also resides.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m., Saturday at the Cooks-ville Lutheran church, the Rev. M. H. Hege, Stoughton officiating.

An Amazing Revelation.

That was a serious arraignment of the people of the state of Wisconsin in the address of Aubrey Williams before the Rotary club of Janesville. It was not new that a large percentage of the prisoners sentenced to the state prison at Waupun were repeaters. The percentage given by Mr. Williams was 45. That is, every 45 persons out of 100 sent to Waupun, have already served at least a term in prison. We have been cognizant of the fact for many years that the penal system was far from effective in stamping out crime by affecting the criminal to such an extent that he would seek an honest life instead of returning to crime. We have been neglecting the child, the deficient, the defective, the underprivileged, and making fertile soil for crime. We have been niggardly in appropriations for genuine helpful work and have an administration of the sociological work of the state under a board of control completely dominated by political expediency regardless of the old or young wards of Wisconsin. We have Mr. Blaine's denial of this but we have also his veto of bills for greater helpfulness and the facts in the aggregate. It is time to heed the warnings given as to the future. Mr. Williams calls emphatic attention to the 60 per cent increase in cases needing public attention, or the services of welfare workers, officially or unofficially, while we have only increased 30 per cent in population.

We have arrived at a place where we have no party or factional interest in this work. It is too great and too important a matter for anyone to attempt to build a political machine on the state charitable institutions of Wisconsin. In aiding in the work there is something for every one to consider in the prevention of neglect.

Mr. Bok's super-government of cash in hand would make a big hit over in France with the depreciated franc.

On Being Inconsistent

Dr. Sawyer says the new Educational and Welfare department proposed for the government would cost $700,000,000 for the Welfare department and the Educational department would cost $200,000,000 in addition a year. The net cost would be 900 million dollars annually. The soldier bonus would cost according to the bill introduced last year, $250,000,000 for the first four years and $215,000,000 for the succeeding 20 years. Senator Underwood has much to say at his Cleveland meeting about the bonus as a "grotesque" proposal, and that there could be no tax reduction with a bonus bill also. Will Senator Underwood vote for the new Welfare and Educational department? Secretary Mellon says tax reduction cannot be made without omitting the bonus. Has the secretary inveigled with any degree of emphasis against the new and expensive department which is fostered by Sawyer and others in the remaking of departments? We have heard of none. The Gazette had occasion to say something about this department last summer when it was first proposed. It builds up another great bureau which will have additional government funds and pay tribute to organized medicine and is dictated by an oligarchy of interests seeking a greater hand in the government. And it will cost us more than an act of justice to men who fought the war at cost.

May we suggest that the Bok peace plan be read aloud to the Mexican revolutionists?

Mr. Bok's "Personal Business"

Mr. Bok told the senate committee that the printed matter and the referendum and all the other expense of the peace prize coming out of the policy committee, was and is being paid by him and while he is too much of a gentleman to say it so abruptly, his friendly translators in league-ophobian newspapers, indicate that he said this is his business and not any one's else. In a measure Mr. Bok is right. It is true that he may spend his money about as he pleases and the government has nothing to say about it—up to a certain limit and that is when it affects the government. Mr. Bok is not paying for a peace plan for Mr. Bok or his immediate family. He is attempting to use as much force as possible to sway public opinion so that his plan will be adopted by the nation. In that it is the public's business. He is holding an election which while not recognized as legal, the result will be used as a club in an effort to impress upon congress that this expression is the wish of the whole people. In that sense it is an election and should come under the corrupt practices act. Mr. Bok refused to answer questions put to him on the ground that it was his private business. If that is so then he should confine his activities to the Bok family. There has been nothing in what Mr. Bok or the secretary of the policy committee has said that changes the opinion of the public that the peace plan was preconcerted to give support to the league of nations and that the personal attitude of the committee selected was understood before the jury was packed.

The police may be able to find several people with skates on.

DIAMOND SMUGGLING

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Washington.—The growing American demand for diamonds has greatly increased attempts to smuggle them into the country. This pastime, which has always been pursued by a certain number of zealous persons—including amateurs as well as professionals—never loses its popularity. In spite of the fact that the customs officials and the law-abiding portion of the diamond trade have contrived to make it extremely hazardous. Conditions are said to be peculiarly tempting to the diamond smuggler at this time. On the one hand he faces a higher duty on diamonds than was required before the war, and on the other hand he finds it easy to dispose of the smuggled goods if he succeeds in escaping the watchful eye of the government. Sooner or later, he knows that Uncle Sam's special inspectors are certain to discover his secret, but in the meantime the profits involved are large and appear to be worth the risk.

The advance in the tariff on cut diamonds from 10 per cent to 20 per cent ad valorem, made within the past few years, was accepted only after violent protest from the diamond trade. The objection was based not so much upon unwillingness to pay the increased duty, for taxes of this kind are quickly passed on to the consumer, but upon the fear of the merchants that they could not successfully compete with dishonest importers who might contrive to have their goods smuggled past the customs barriers.

In spite of their opposition, the increase was established, however, and the diamond merchants have had to content themselves by doing everything within their power to prevent smuggling. Through their knowledge of the movements of diamond stocks and of prices they are instantly able to detect the sudden presence on the market of an unduly large supply of stones or of a suspiciously low price. In this way they are of great aid to the government by directing investigations toward any dealer who is suspected of enjoying an immunity from the tariff.

Complaints from this vigilant source are constantly being received by the special inspectors employed at the port of New York, and they are always promptly investigated. But the search for evidence must proceed with the utmost caution, since the government cannot be embarrassed by accusing persons who might possibly prove their innocence. Officials must be supplied with indisputable evidence that smuggling is being perpetrated before they may take the liberty of giving orders.

"Better lose a million than hurt a dozen," is said to be the motto of this special branch of the revenue squad. This is only right and proper, but it doubtless accounts for the escape of a good many smugglers, especially ingenious amateurs.

The tariff terms are not unduly hard upon the importer. They provide that in case a person brings goods into the country which he openly declares, but upon which he is unprepared to pay duty, the government will hold the merchandise for a period of three years pending final payments.

If an importer can show that his imported merchandise was purchased at more than actual market value, he is permitted to deduct the difference at the time of import and pay duty only on the wholesale foreign market value. On the other hand, if the examiner discovers that the merchandise has been undervalued deliberately in the invoice, the goods are subject to additional penalties. In the event of a disagreement between the importer and the examiner concerning the actual market value, an appeal may be taken to the customs court.

Precious stones which originated in this country but which were exported and kept a short time abroad, may be imported free of duty. When precious stones are imported into this country and mounted into jewelry, which is then exported, the duty paid upon entry is refunded by the government, less a reduction of 1 per cent.

Some of the cases arising over jewels whose origin is in doubt present interesting complications. In one instance, a woman was held up by a special inspector at the customs house in New York just as she was about to enter through the main door with a handbag full of undeclared jewelry. She protested the duty, and the case was taken to court. Here she made the excuse, at first, that most of the stones in the various pieces had been purchased in this country and were taken to Paris to be combined and reset with a few others of no importance.

"Virtually, all I paid for over there was craftsmanship," she insisted, "and I didn't know there was a duty on that." To this she added the novel plea that the resetting of the stones had been a secret and she didn't know that there was a duty on presents. Such naive ignorance on the part of an otherwise clever woman did not deceive the government, and the jewels were confiscated.

Professional smugglers are among the most daring and ingenious of crooks, and some of them resort to strange expedients in order to bring diamonds into the country free of duty. Women have been known to put the stones in artificial grapes on their backs, in silver ornaments on their girdles, and in the interiors of dolls carried in the arms of their small daughters.

Men bring them in concealed in their shoes, in the tires of bicycles, in chocolate candy and in secret compartments of all sorts. One man succeeded in carrying them through inside his silver topped cane, and since then the cane has been used so many times as a diamond-holder that only a novice would now attempt it.

Stamford Charles Caldwell and reveals the guilt of unsuspected smugglers. In one case, a couple of customs inspectors spying a hunchback waiting on the dock, asked him with all due respect if they might rub his hump. They were superstitious but not in the least suspicious until the hunchback exhibited great reluctance to have his back touched. Then they called a higher official and the man was requested to return to the ship to be searched. Here it was discovered that the "hump" consisted chiefly of three porous plates attached to the man's back which held in place a large-sized package wrapped in cotton wadding. The package contained several hundred pieces of jewelry.

This man had made twenty-seven different trips across the Atlantic and between the states and Canada, on each of which he had smuggled successfully, by various devices, immense quantities of jewelry. One time he brought a large stock of gems across in a casket said to contain the body of his brother. He admitted this proudly, explaining that he had placed forty-three rings on the dead man's fingers and had carried them off.

Many cases that rival the wildest exploits of fiction are told by William H. Theobald, for years a special government inspector. In his book entitled, "Defrauding the Government," Mr. Theobald himself led an extremely adventurous life, trailing notorious diamond smugglers in Europe, which resulted in many attempts to kill him. He also antagonized a great number of very rich and equally dangerous enterprises—by refusing to permit them to escape. One of these men admitted that he liked to cheat the government—it made him feel so clever.

A search is being made for the wealth of German hidden away in foreign countries. J. M. Keynes, the British economic expert, says it cannot be far from $600,000,000. That would have fed a number of German starving children.

"MY SON"
He's supposed to be our son, our hope and our pride. In him all the dreams of our future abide, but whenever some act to his credit occurs I never am mentioned, the glory is "hers." And whenever he's had or has strayed from the line, Then always she speaks of the rascal as "mine."

When trouble has come she will sobberly say: "Do you know what YOUR son has been up to today?" Your son spilled the ink on the living room floor. Your son broke the glass in the dining room door! I am telling you now something has to be done, It is high time you started correcting your son!

But when to the neighbors she boasts of his worth, It is: "My son's the best little boy on the earth!" Accuse him of mischief, she'll just floor you flat. With: "My son, I'm certain, would never do that!" Of course there are times when he's wilfully bad, But then it's that temper he gets from his dad!" (Copyright, 1924, by Edgar A. Guest)

SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. LOULTON.

Financiers say that the trouble in Germany is there are too many marks, but it doesn't seem to do any good to burn them or lose them as fast as they come out. A man we know here in New York sent to some relatives in Germany a draft for $25. He heard from them the other day. Of course they were delighted with the gift, but it brought its difficulties. They drove to town with a furrowed brow and exchanged the draft for something like $2,000,000,000 marks. The wagon, which had three boxes of laundry, was completely filled and there were enough marks left for another trip. The horses got tired on the second trip and the driver lightened their burden by stopping at a store and buying a package of cigarettes, for which he gave the dealer a half of his wagonload of marks.

A railroad engineer can always tell when he is approaching a cross road by the wreckage of automobiles scattered about the landscape.

WHO'S WHO TODAY

EDWARD N. HURLEY.

Once more Edward N. Hurley, Chicago manufacturer, has been called upon to fill a public position of responsibility. He has just been named Democratic member of the Post-Routing Commission, filling a vacancy.

Hurley is probably best known to the average American for his work as head of the U. S. shipping board. As chairman of the U. S. shipping board and president of the American Shipbuilding Corporation in building ships and getting supplies to the Allied forces in France, Mr. Hurley made a distinguished record. He has served both as chairman and vice chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, and in 1913 served as trade commissioner to the Latin-American republics.

He was born in Galenburgh, Ill., July 31, 1864. His schooling was confined to the grammar grades and high school. He began his career as a traveling first class railroad agent, but eventually he became manager of the metal packing concern for which he had been traveling. He originated and developed the pneumatic tool industry in this country, and later large interests in that industry, selling out his interests later to devote his time to farming and stock raising at his country home at Wheaton, Ill.

He is a recognized leader in Democratic circles in Illinois.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

THAT THUMP THUMP

Our last talk about the heart was a huge success, I think. We managed to describe in a few tests which anybody can make to get an idea of the functional efficiency of his circulation. The fifth test was a palpation. It consisted in running quickly up two flights of stairs and observing the effect on your pulse. The effect, normally is of course an increase of 20 or 25 beats to the minute; after a minute or so, when the pulse begins to slow again, you should feel the heart beating more forcibly, thump-thump, against your ribs, until the pulse rate has about reached the normal resting rate. I always give this test first, for if one happened to have some such affliction as an aneurism, one might not come downstairs again safely.

The thump thump is worth considering more in detail. It has considerable significance. In the first place, it is the normal reaction to such a test, and it is the pathological symptom of a heart which is unable to respond to unusual exertion with increased action. If you get this reaction from the test, it doesn't matter even if you have a valvular defect or aortic insufficiency, you have a thoroughly efficient heart, which will carry you thru life if you use it well. A normal reaction to this test, which by the way, is also the reaction of the normal Bruce-Graupner test, is quite as significant, by way of prognosis, as any stethoscopic examination can be.

The sounds heard in the chest, which give the physician some little idea of the state of the heart and the valves, but irrespective of any murmurs or alterations of the normal heart sounds, a test tells what a heart is capable of doing; that is the important thing to know in any case. Estimated on a gauge from this modern physiological viewpoint, which affords a clearer understanding of heart disease than was possible from the anatomical viewpoint, the capacity of the heart to respond to unusual exertion with increased action, is a better test than many a heart that murmurs is normal. Many a victim of a purely anatomical diagnosis of heart disease suffers only in his imagination, which has been twisted away. Many a near invalid, who sports a "weak heart" that "can't stand" this or that, is perfectly sound, and nothing whatever the matter with his heart. In fact, nine times out of 10 the

"We're going to have them regularly from now on, son!"

"Mother bought a 'Wear-Ever' Griddle yesterday when she discovered that it doesn't require greasing and therefore doesn't smoke up the house."

DON'T deny yourself and family any longer the "joy of the morning when there's a snap in the air and frost on the windowpane"—pipin' hot, brown-as-a-nut griddle cakes!

The only objection to the making of griddle cakes has now been overcome. The new

"Wear-Ever"
Sheet Aluminum Griddle

needs NO GREASE and therefore makes NO SMOKE

Griddle cakes are easy to make if you follow this simple recipe

1 cup flour 1 tablespoon sugar 2 eggs 2 cups milk or water (scant)
1 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon butter or substitute 3 teaspoons baking powder
Sift flour, salt, baking powder and sugar together. Beat eggs and milk together, add melted butter to this. Gradually stir the liquid into the dry ingredients, making a smooth batter. Heat the griddle. (Some women place a bit of batter near the outer edge of the griddle. When the batter browns, griddle is hot enough to bake cakes.) Then turn down the flame about one-half. Pour the cakes on hot griddle. When the cakes are full of bubbles, turn and brown on other side.

was head of the interior department. Appearing before the committee as a voluntary witness, Mr. Doherty gave testimony yesterday even more dramatic than that of Archie Roosevelt, who earlier in the week had announced his resignation from the Sinclair organization because of the "amazing testimony" previously given to the committee and other circumstances, including what he characterized as the sudden departure of Mr. Sinclair for Europe.

During the more than two hours of cross-examination of Mr. Doherty that followed, Chairman Lefford asked him if, in view of the possibility that he had secured an advantage in getting the contracts because of the loan to Mr. Fall he was not willing to turn back the lease.

Mr. Doherty replied that if it would clear Mr. Fall of any suspicion of having been influenced by the loan he would be "perfectly willing" to recommend such a course to his company.

With the senate in recess over the week-end, discussion of the investigation was continued today in the committee room, before adjourning yesterday the senate by unanimous consent discharged the investigating committee from further consideration of the resolution of Senator Caraway proposing cancellation of the leases. Feaguy of Chandler has prepared for introduction into the upper house of the state legislature today.

The resolution also would request the senate committee investigating the Teapot Dome naval oil lease to develop further the recent testimony of W. G. Wallberg to the effect that Harry P. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil corporation had turned over to his friend, Col. William Zevely of Muskogee, Okla., $25,000 in Liberty bonds which were not accounted for to him (Wallberg).

This inquiry would be asked to determine whether any of the money was brought into Oklahoma for the last senatorial campaign, according to the resolution, which calls attention to the testimony given during the impeachment trial of former Governor J. C. Walton "indicating money they sought the state" that such had been done.

27,840 ACRES INCLUDED IN DOHERTY OIL LEASES. San Francisco—Doherty leases on government oil lands in California, under the name of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport, include 27,840 acres or 43 1/2 sections in the 68 sections in the oil reserve, according to maps prepared by the state bureau of mines.

The maps do not show when or how the holdings were acquired. This information has been brought out by examination of Edward L. Doherty by the senate investigating committee at Washington.

Doherty leased land in concession to be of immense value. Some of it has been drilled but much is yet untouched. The land is in the rich Elk Hills oil field, on territory near Taft, California.

CAPITAL SCENE OF GENERAL TANGLE

Like Street Crowd, Everybody Headed in Different Direction.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—To an outsider the national capital nowadays must seem like a street crowd—everybody headed in different directions.

To anyone on the ground the situation looks hardly less confusing. Not since 1912 has there been so much going on, so much that will lead to a change in the presidential politics, and so much that is the natural result of the change.

So the senate is all tangled up in investigations and hearings about various questions, including the subject to recognize the soviet government in Russia, the 1916 peace plan, and the Teapot Dome oil controversy.

As for Russia, the investigation will air as to most points. The final decision is within the discretion of the president and secretary of state, anyhow. The inquiry into the alleged improper use of money in stimulating public interest in the winning of the Teapot Dome oil concession is already a fiasco.

The Teapot Dome investigation has fairly to be the most important of all for political purposes. At the moment the investigation has simply developed a suspicion that former Secretary Albert Fall of the interior department made a contract for the government to dispose of oil leases, for which it is alleged he was in some way compensated when he resigned his place in the Harding cabinet. Suspicion isn't evidence, and Mr. Fall may be able to clear up doubts when he testifies.

Oil makes trouble. It is not only in the tangled questions of foreign policy in the Near East but in Mexico. The administration is being criticized for helping the Obregon government with the sale of munitions and for sending American naval vessels to prevent the rebels from intercepting American commerce with Mexico, especially in the vicinity of Tampico, the heart of the oil region in Mexico. Mr. Hughes defends his policy on the ground that it is not intervention, but moral support to a government which has been recognized.

President Coolidge is sailing along into the teeth of the storm. He knows tax legislation depends largely on the approval of his leadership. He is opposed to a soldier bonus bill but may find that congress will pass the kind of a measure he can approve, one that doesn't call for so much of an outlay of cash as has been proposed. The bonus advocates are biding their time waiting for the tax bill to reach the floor of the house and senate, where amendments can be tacked, debated and voted upon.

After the Convention. Meanwhile Mr. Coolidge finds himself concerned not about the non-partisan campaign, but what will come after it.

He has a fairly good start for the nomination. The "Coolidge against clubs" are increasing in number. But the alarming phase of the political outlook is the distressing situation in the agricultural regions, particularly the northwest. Mr. Coolidge's message to congress to provide machinery for financial relief for the farmers is designed, of course, to meet an economic emergency but it will have political effects. The west is restless.

The republican strength usually comes from that section. Congress is a slow moving body. Unless it acts promptly, Mr. Coolidge will bear the brunt of the political resentment that inevitably follows. He is urging immediate action. Senator Brookhart of Iowa says that the step has come "six months too late." Administration officials do not think so. They feel that the various agencies of credit which can be provided will cure the situation and that as things improve in the agricultural belt, even slightly, prejudice of the administration will not be vitally damaged. The northwestern crisis is declared here to be spotty and likely to become national.

Agriculture has been under a strain for some time. The administration has been at a loss how to solve the problem. Acute outbreaks of financial trouble have accelerated action.

And this includes only a few of the problems of the moment, for important treaties are pending and appointments bills always provide ground for debate. It's a busy winter this, in Washington.

AGED NEGRO AIDE AT CAPITAL DEAD

Washington—Richard Green is dead. Aged and illness have laid their way with the proud frame, and sturdy will of the negro who for more than 50 years had served faithfully a long line of treasury secretaries as their confidential messenger.

Appointed to the department in 1874, Green has traveled throughout the United States and Europe and South America with various secretaries, and stationed outside the door of the treasury chief's office, his hearing has attracted the admiration of visitors.

A public reception in Green's honor was held on the occasion of his fiftieth anniversary as a treasury employee, and was attended by former Secretaries Cortelyou, Clegg, Glass, McAdoo, MacVeigh, Shaw and Houston.

All spoke in his praise, but no compliment ever paid him could give him such lasting delight as the statement of Mr. Glass that he was "a Virginia gentleman."

Shoe Repair Man Wins Verdict, 5-1, in Justice Court

Termination of a case, the cause of which occurred in 1922, came in Justice Charles Lange's court Tuesday, when a judgment of costs was granted against the Artistic Ad company of New York, amounting to $27.25.

In 1922, a representative of Ellen Hart, trading under the name of the Artistic Ad company, sold Joe Dongarra, local shoe dealer and repair man, advertising cuts for use in the Gazette, and told him that the Gazette had told him they would be printed for $1.56 weekly. Dongarra signed the contract to secure the cuts for a year, but when the first one was taken to the newspaper, he was informed it would cost him $2.75 for a single insertion, or $2.16 on a yearly contract. Realizing that this did not agree with the representations of the company, he wrote to them, and told them to stop sending the cuts, but they continued to come during the year.

The bill for $108.16, which became due on July 21, 1923 was sued on, with interest from that time. Dongarra demanded jury trial and won a verdict 5 to 1. Under the new rule on civil cases, it is not required that the jury agree unanimously. The case may be appealed. Those who served on the jury were: Fred Blakey, Gerald Cunningham, George H. Drummond, J. R. Lamb, Floyd Parker and Archie Reid, Jr.

A. D. Graves appeared for the advertising company and C. A. Enslow for Dongarra.

Williams' Arrive on Coast After 3,200-Mile Tour

Mrs. John Heller, 220 North Jackson street, has received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. L. E. Williams, who left here a short time ago with her husband, advising her of their arrival in Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are now at the camping grounds, which is near the scene of the Clara Phillips hammer murder.

Mrs. Williams says that the desert was not hot nor very sandy, although it would be different in the summer time. They made 249 miles during the last day's ride, and the total mileage was 3,206. They left here five weeks ago and were on the road 13 days, which does not include any stop-overs. The last half of the trip was made in eight days.

Lemons at 5 cents a dozen and oranges at 25 cents for a 12-quart full are nothing uncommon there, according to Mrs. Williams. She said that dates were high, but of course they were freshly picked. Mrs. Williams remarks in her letter that "the sun is surely hot today. I believe that it is January, with voice and all the green things around." Mr. and Mrs. Williams went to the central market in Los Angeles and

Iowa Buyers in County Seeking
Two Carloads of Grade
Dairy Cattle.

Two buyers from Iowa, are in Rock county selecting carload lots of grade dairy cattle.

Despite difficult travel conditions a part of the lot have been secured. Any farmer having surplus cattle is urged to notify the Farm Bureau at once.

More than 55,000 of Wisconsin's elite dairy cattle bought railroad tickets last year.

Exceeding by 15,000 the number that were sold to out-of-state buyers in 1922, shipments this year went to 42 states and many foreign countries.

Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota were the heaviest domestic buyers and Mexico the best of the foreign buyers.

"Areas of cheaper feed production are more interested in getting our dairy cattle," believes Reid Murray, secretary of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association, in commenting upon the fact that the bulk of the cattle went west instead of east.

Jowa has increased the total number of dairy cattle from 6,000 to 14,000. Nebraska, North Dakota and Idaho have also increased their dairy population approximately 50 per cent.

"Much of this stock goes to establish new dairy herds in areas where farmers are becoming converts to diversified farming," says A.

HORICON PROTESTS RELOCATING OF 26

Janesville—Residents of Horicon and vicinity are strongly opposed to the relocation of highway 26 as indicated by a communication from the Horicon Advancement association, read before the county board of supervisors at their meeting here. The state highway commission has planned to have highway 26, which now passes through Horicon and Mayville to Theresa, relocated to pass through Minnesota Junction, Burnett and Waupun.

The communication stated that the residents of Horicon were under the impression that at the time that they voted for the bond issue, highway 26 would be a permanent highway through their city. Highway 26 connects Janesville with highway 15 at Theresa, leading to the northern part of the state.

The board referred the matter to the county road and bridge committee, who will in turn refer the matter to the state road and bridge committee for definite action.

TO DISCUSS SWINE DISEASES AT FIRST OF FARM MEETINGS

Sunlight and fresh air is cheap and yet it is the most effective preventive and cure for many costly swine diseases, especially among sows that there is available.

This fact will be brought out during the meeting to be held for the farming public in the new Janesville high school on February 1. The control of hog worms will be given special attention at the first of the series of meetings being arranged for farmers. Dr. J. T. Furell, an authority on swine diseases and Dr. Arthur J. Kilham, Janesville, will speak at this meeting. Motion pictures will be shown on the methods employed to curb and eradicate the worm among swine. During the program there will be an open discussion on hog raising and hog diseases.

The meeting date has been changed to Friday evening, February 1 instead of January 31 to accommodate Dr. Furell.

PORTER SENDS IN 15 CLUB APPLICATIONS

Fifteen junior club applications from one school is the record of Lloyd Porter, club worker in Porter township. So far as is known this is a record for any one Rock county rural school. There are already around 100 applications received by Jack C. Nisbet from four of the townships covered.

Unfavorable road conditions have stopped the canvassing in the other townships. Application blanks and rules have been sent to the other schools and as soon as traffic conditions will permit the other schools will be visited.

Think—

Do you know him? Has he a reputation to maintain? Are you sure he hasn't one to conceal? You know whom you're dealing with when you trade at home town stores.

Can you trust his word? Some of these peddlers, for instance, pass off clever but inferior imitations as "Full Fashioned" Hosiery. Home town merchants couldn't afford such deception.

Will you ever see him again? If the hosiery proves defective what can you do about it? Home town dealers make good on their merchandise.

A comparison of slick
agents' hosiery prices with
those of local merchants.

"Mock-fashioned" hosiery, such as agents sell at $5.00 per box ($1.25 per pair) can usually be bought at local stores for $1.10 per pair—in single pairs.

Real full-fashioned silk hosiery, which is always woven flat, then seamed up the back, will keep its shape after washing, because it is patterned (not pressed) to fit the ankle and calf of the leg snugly without strain. Ask the salesgirls to explain the difference to you.

Full-fashioned silk hosiery costs more to make than "mock-fashioned," but if purchased three pairs at a time can usually be had at about the same price. For $5.00 you can buy a box of three pairs of full-fashioned silk hose at almost any local store.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lansing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation after five operations. Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL Bran. Nothing but ALL Bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate caused me to vomit. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, and I found everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lansing, 1306 Jerries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumpled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

GREEN PRODUCE IS SOMEWHAT SCARCE

Shipping Affected by Weather—Common Kinds Are Available.

On account of the difficulty in shipping during the last week, green produce on the local market is somewhat scarce, although all the more common kinds can be had at the usual prices. New carrots are for sale in most places at 10 cents per bunch. The fall crop, such as has been on the market during the winter, remains at 5 cents pound.

Florida oranges are of very good quality and are one of the leaders in the fruit line this week, selling considerably cheaper than California navel of the same size. Large sizes are 35 to 40 cents down; medium, 30 cents; and smaller ones, 25 cents. Navel sell up to 60 cents, with the medium size at 45, and some of small size, as low as 20 cents. Grapefruit remain at last week's prices, ranging from 7 to 10 cents each, according to size. Most dealers are selling 3, 4 or 5 for 25 cents.

Most apples are 3 cents pound, with Jonathans at 8 or 9 cents, and Delicious at 10 cents. In basket lots, Redwins are $1.70 to $1.85; Delicious, $2.25 to $2.50; Greenings, $1.65 to $1.75; and Jonathans, $2.25.

Other prices remain the same as last week, with bananas at 13 to 15 cents pound; cranberries, 12 to 15 cents; strawberries, 65 to 70 cents; and lemons, 20 to 40 cents dozen. California grapes of fair quality are 25 to 30 cents, and imported Malaga, 35 cents. Only a few dozen pears are on the market, and no more will be brought here this season. It is stated by wholesale men.

Green vegetables this week include head lettuce at 10 cents, spinach at 15 cents, green peppers, 5 cents; celery, 10 to 15 cents; green onions, 10 cents; new carrots, 10 cents; cabbage, 4 cents; red cabbage, 5 cents; and cauliflower, 25 to 30 cents. Celery cabbage, at 10 cents, is slightly lower than last week.

Butter on Increase.

The usual winter butters are steady with last week's prices, turkeys selling for 4 cents; parsnips, 5 cents; Spanish onions, 5 to 8 cents; cooking onions, 5 cents, or $2.25 bushel; rutabagas, 4 cents; sweet potatoes, 10 cents; potatoes, 25 cents peck or 30 cents bushel.

The scene for the class prophecy was laid in the dressing room of a traveling show troupe, with Dorrance Jensen, Frances Carlson, Joe Leary and Lillian Brohm taking the leading parts. Through a mix-up in baggage, a trunk was brought them containing newspapers, in which were found accounts of the various members of the class.

Arthur Matmborg presented the music, as the symbol of the authority of the senior class, to Sven Sorenson, president of the new class, who placed the colors of his organization onto it. The class will, in which every member of the class was represented, with some request, as well as a number of gifts by the class as a whole, was read by Maurice Kramer.

Following the address of the president, the high school band, marched into the auditorium and played several selections, which were followed by cheers for three of their members, Lawrence Gower, Lillian Brohm and Dorrance Jensen, who are graduating. The high school orchestra opened the program with a selection.

Those who will receive their diplomas tonight are: Harlan Bradford, Lillian Brohm, Frances Carlson, Curtis Chase, Harold J. Cunningham, L. A. Verne T. Cunningham, Esther Damerow, Louise Decker, Bessie Ellis, Bessie Lehigh Ellis, Edith Everman, Harriet Gillingham, Lawrence Gower, Clara Grange, Gerald Helander, Alfred F. Heisel,

An Amazing Revelation.

That was a serious arraignment of the people
 of the state of Wisconsin in the address of Aubrey Williams before the Rotary club of Janesville. It was not new that a large percentage of the prisoners sentenced to the state prison at Waupun
 were repeaters. The percentage given by Mr.
 Williams was 45. That is, every 45 persons out of 100 sent to Waupun, have already served at least a term in prison. We have been cognizant
 of the fact for many years that the penal system
 was far from effective in stamping out crime by affecting the criminal to such an extent that he would seek an honest life instead of returning to crime. We have been neglecting the child,
 the deficient, the defective, the underprivileged,
 and making fertile soil for crime. We have been niggardly in appropriations for genuine helpful
 work and have an administration of the soci-ological work of the state under a board of control completely dominated by political expediency
 regardless of the old or young wards of Wisconsin. We have Mr. Blaine's denial of this but we have also his veto of bills for greater helpfulness
 and the facts in the aggregate. It is time to heed
 the warnings given as to the future. Mr. Williams calls emphatic attention to the 60 per cent increase in cases needing public attention, or the services of welfare workers, officially or unofficially, while we have only increased 30 per cent
 in population.

We have arrived at a place where we have no
 party or factional interest in this work. It is too great and too important a matter for anyone to attempt to build a political machine on the state charitable institutions of Wisconsin. In aiding in the work there is something for every one to consider in the prevention of neglect.

Mr. Bok's super-government of cash in hand
 would make a big hit over in France with the depreciated franc.

On Being Inconsistent

Dr. Sawyer says the new Educational and Welfare department proposed for the government
 would cost $700,000,000 for the welfare department and the Educational department would cost $200,000,000 in addition a year. The net cost would be $900 million dollars annually. The solider bonus would cost according to the bill introduced last year, $260,000,000 for the first four years and $215,000,000 for the succeeding 20 years. Senator Underwood has much to say at his Cleveland meeting about the bonus as a "rotten" proposal, and that there could be no tax reduction with a bonus bill also. Will Senator Underwood vote for the new Welfare and Educational department? Secretary Mellon says
 tax reduction cannot be made without omitting
 the bonus. Has the secretary involved with any degree of emphasis against the new and expensive department which is fostered by Sawyer and others in the remaking of departments? We have heard of none. The Gazette had occasion to say something about this department last summer
 when it was first proposed. It builds up another great bureau which will have additional government frills and pay tribute to organized medicine
 and be dictated by an oligarchy of interests seeking a greater hand in the government. And it will cost us more than an act of justice to men
 who fought the war at cost.

May we suggest that the Bok peace plan be read aloud to the Mexican revolutionists?

Mr. Bok's "Personal Business"

Mr. Bok told the senate committee that the private matter and the referendum and all the other expense of the peace prize coming out of the policy committee, was and is being paid by him
 and while he is too much of a gentleman to say
 it so abruptly, his friendly translators in league
 with the phony newspapers, indicate that he said this is his business and not any one else. In a men-sue Mr. Bok is right. It is true that he may spend his money about as he pleases and the government has nothing to say about it—up to a certain limit and that is when it affects the government. Mr. Bok is not paying for a peace plan for Mr. Bok or his immediate family. He is attempting to use as much force as possible to sway
 public opinion so that his plan will be adopted by the nation. In that it is the public's business.
 He is holding an election which while not recognized as legal, the result will be used as a club
 in an effort to impress upon congress that this expression is the wish of the whole people. In that sense it is an election and should come under the corrupt practices act. Mr. Bok refused to answer questions put to him on the ground that it was his private business. If that is so then he should confine his activities to the Bok family. There has been nothing in what Mr. Bok
 or the secretary of the policy committee has said that changes the opinion of the public that
 the peace plan was preconcerted to give support
 to the league of nations and that the personal
 attitude of the committee selected was understood
 before the jury was packed.

The police may be able to find several people
 with skates on.

DIAMOND SMUGGLING

By FREDERIC J. HASLIN.

Washington.—The growing American demand
 for diamonds has greatly increased attempts to smuggle them into the country. This pastime,
 which has always been pursued by a certain number of zealous persons—including amateurs as well as professionals—never loses its popularity.
 In spite of the fact that the customs officials and
 the law-abiding portion of the diamond trade
 have contrived to make it extremely hazardous.
 Conditions are said to be peculiarly tempting
 to the diamond smuggler at this time. On the one hand he faces a higher duty on diamonds than
 was required before the war, and on the other hand he finds it easy to dispose of the smuggled goods if he succeeds in escaping the watchful eye
 of the government. Sooner or later, he knows that Uncle Sam's special inspectors are certain to discover his secret, but in the meantime the profits involved are large and appear to be worth
 the risk.

The advance in the tariff on cut diamonds from 10 per cent to 20 per cent ad valorem, made within the past few years, was accepted only after violent protest from the diamond trade. The objection was based not so much upon unwilling-ness to pay the increased duty, for taxes of this kind are quickly passed on to the consumer, but upon the fear of the merchants that they could not successfully compete their dishonest importers
 who might contrive to have their goods smuggled
 past the customs barriers.

In spite of their opposition, the increase was established, however, and the diamond merchants
 have had to content themselves by doing everything within their power to prevent smuggling.
 Through their knowledge of the movements of
 diamond stocks and of prices they are instantly
 able to detect the sudden presence on the market
 of a suspiciously large supply of stones or of a suspiciously low price. In this way they are of great aid to the government by directing investigations
 toward any dealer who is suspected of enjoying
 an immunity from the tariff.

Complaints from this vigilant source are constantly being received by the special inspectors
 employed at the port of New York, and they are always promptly investigated. But the search for evidence must proceed with the utmost caution, since the government cannot be embarrassed by accusing persons who might possibly prove their innocence. Officials must be supplied with indisputable evidence that smuggling
 is being perpetrated before they may take the liberty of giving offense.

"Better lose a million than hurt a dozen," is said to be the motto of this special branch of the revenue squad. This is only right and proper, but it doubtless accounts for the escape of a good many smugglers, especially ingenious amateurs.

The tariff terms are not unduly hard upon the importer. They provide that in case a person brings goods into the country which he openly declares, but upon which he is unprepared to pay
 duty, the government will hold the merchandise
 for a period of three years pending final payments.

If an importer can show that his imported merchandise was purchased at more than actual
 market value, he is permitted to deduct the difference at the time of entry and pay duty only on the wholesale foreign market value. On the other hand, if the examiner discovers that the merchandise has been undervalued deliberately
 in the invoice, the goods are subject to additional penal duties. In the event of a disagreement between the importer and the examiner concerning
 the actual market value, an appeal may be taken to the customs court.

Precious stones which originated in this country but which were exported and kept a short
 time abroad, may be imported free of duty,
 when precious stones are imported into this country and mounted in jewelry, which is then
 exported, the duty paid upon entry is refunded
 by the government, less a reduction of 1 per cent.

Some of the cases arising over jewels whose
 origin is in doubt present interesting complications. In one instance, a woman was held up by a special inspector at the customs house in New York just as she was about to walk through the gates with a handbag full of undeclared jewelry.
 She protested the duty, and the case was taken to court. Here she made the excuse, at first, that most of the stones in the various pieces had been purchased in this country and were taken to Paris to be combined and reset with a few others
 of no importance.

"Virtually, all I paid for over there was craftsmanship," she insisted. "And I didn't know there was a duty on that." To this she added the novel plea that the resetting of the stones had been a duty on presents. She also claimed that there was a duty on presents. She also claimed that there was
 a duty on presents. She also claimed that there was a duty on presents.

Professional smugglers are among the most
 daring and ingenious of crooks, and some of them
 resort to strange expedients in order to bring diamonds into the country free of duty. Women have been known to put the stones in artificial grapes on their necks, in silver ornaments on their
 girdles, and in the linings of dolls carried in the arms of their small daughters.

Men bring them in concealed in their shoes,
 in the tires of bicycles, in chocolate candy and in secret compartments of all sorts. One man succeeded in carrying them through inside his silver topped cane, and since then the cane has been used so many times as a diamond-holder that only
 a novice would now attempt it.

Sometimes chance takes a hand and reveals the guilt of unrepentant smugglers. In one case, a couple of customs inspectors, springing a hum-
 back waiting on the dock, asked him with all due respect if they might rub his hump. They were superstitious but not in the least suspicious until the humback exhibited great reluctance to have his back touched. Then they called a higher official and the man was requested to return to the ship to be searched. Here it was discovered that the humback consisted chiefly of three porous
 plaster casts attached to the man's back which held
 in place a large-sized package wrapped in cotton wadding. The package contained several hundred pieces of jewelry.

This man had made twenty-seven different trips
 across the Atlantic and between the states and Canada, on each of which he had smuggled successfully, by various devices, immense quantities of jewelry. One time he brought a large stock of gems across in a casket said to contain the body of his mother. He admitted this proudly,
 explaining that he had placed forty-three rings
 on the dead man's fingers.

Many cases that rival the wildest exploits of fiction are told by William H. "Brook" for years
 a special government inspector, in his book entitled, "Defrauding the Government." Mr. Theobald himself led an extremely adventurous life,
 trailing notorious diamond smugglers in Europe,
 which resulted in many attempts to kill him.

He also organized a great number of very rich
 men—men equally dishonest—enterprise—by refusing to permit them to smuggle. One of these men admitted that he liked to cheat the government—
 it made him feel so clever.

wood. Not anyone in the British Isles has ever told harder at the grouse shooting or cricket or golf than these.

A search is being made for the wealth of Germans hidden away in foreign countries. J. M.
 Keynes, the British economic expert, says it cannot be far from $500,000,000. That would have fed a number of German starving children.

So many people wanted to give Mr. Fall a hundred thousand that he fell for it.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

"MY SON"

He's supposed to be our son, our hope and our pride.
 In him all the dreams of our future abide.
 But whenever some of his credit occurs,
 I never am mentioned, the glory is "hers."
 And whenever he's bad or has strayed from the line,
 Then always she speaks of the rascal as
 "mine."

When trouble has come she will sobberly say:
 "Do you know what YOUR son has been up to today?"
 Your son spilled the ink on the living room
 floor!
 Your son broke the glass in the dining room
 door!

I am telling you now something has to be done,
 I: Is high time you started correcting your son!"
 But when to the neighbors she boasts of his worth,
 It is: "My son's the best little boy on the earth!"
 Accuse him of mischief, she'll just frown you
 flat.
 With: "My son, I'm certain, would never do that!"
 Of course there are times when he's wilfully
 bad.
 But then it's that tempo he gets from his dad!

SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. LOUITON.

Financiers say that the trouble in Germany
 is there are too many marks, that it doesn't seem to do any good to burn them or lose them
 as fast as they come out.

A man we know here in New York sent to some relatives in Germany, a draft for $25.
 He heard from them the other day. Or sent to
 they were delighted with the gift, but it brought his difficulties. They drove to town with a farm wagon and exchanged the draft, which brought something like 2,000,000 marks. The wagon,
 on which had high sides for hauling hay, was completely filled and there were enough marks
 left for another trip. The horses got tired on the second trip and the driver lightened their burden by stopping at a store and buying a package of cigarettes, for which he gave the dealer
 a half of his wagonload of marks.

A railroad engineer can always tell when he is approaching a cross road by the wreckage of automobiles scattered about the landscape.

WHO'S WHO TODAY

EDWARD N. HURLEY.

Once more Edward N. Hurley, Chicago manufacturer, has been called upon to fill a public post of responsibility. He has just been named Democratic member of the "Dob Funding Commission, filling a vacancy.

Hurley is probably best known to the average American for his work as head of the U. S. shipping board. As chairman of the U. S. shipping board
 and president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation in building ships
 and getting supplies to the Allied forces in France, Mr.
 Hurley made a distinguished record. He has served both
 as chairman and vice chairman of the Federal Trade commission, and in 1913
 served as trade commissioner to the Latin-American republics.

He was born in Gallesburg,
 Ill., July 31, 1851. His schooling was confined to the grammar grades and high school. He first tried railroad work, then became a traveling salesman. Eventually he became manager of the metal packing concern for which he had been traveling. He originated and developed the pneumatic tool industry in the U. S., and Europe and at one time had large interests in that industry, selling out his interests later to devote his time to the shipping work in which he is a recognized leader in Democratic circles
 in Illinois.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 25, 1884.—One of the features of the program following the banquet of the state G. A.
 R. encampment here last night, was the presentation of a flag to the local post by citizens.
 Ordon J. Fethers presented it and it was accepted by Adjutant Harlow. Dancing and speeches were also on the program.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 25, 1894.—This is the coldest day of this winter, the temperature running from 20 to 27
 below.—Some of the most famous medical experts of the country, including Dr. Walter Kempster, insanity expert, and Ludwig Heck-
 toen, Chicago, gave testimony in the Stone case
 here yesterday.

THAT THUMP THUMP

Our last talk about the heart was a huge success, I think. We managed to describe therein five tests which anybody can make to get an idea of the functional efficiency of his circulation. The first test was a palpation.
 It consisted in running quickly
 up two flights of stairs and observing
 the effect on the pulse. The effect, of course, is an increase of 20
 or 25 beats to the minute; after a minute or so, when the pulse begins
 to slow again, you should feel the heart beating more forcibly, thump-
 thump, against your ribs, until the pulse rate has about reached the normal resting rate. I always give this test, and if you happen to have
 some such affliction as an aneurysm,
 one might not come downstairs again
 at foot.

The thump thump is worth considering more in detail. It has considerable significance. In the first place,
 it is the normal reaction to such a
 test, and not the pathological symptom some folk suppose. The stronger
 the heart, the more forcibly it reacts
 with the pulse rate slowing down to
 or near normal resting rate, shows
 the capacity of the heart to respond
 to unusual exertion with increased action. If you get this reaction from the test, it doesn't matter even if you have a valvular leakage, you may rest assured you will carry your thru life.

Now, if you do not get this normal reaction to this test, which, by the way, glorifies in the name of the Cabot-Brace-Graupner test, is quite as good a test as any other. It is a simple test, and anybody can make any stethoscopic examination can be.
 The sounds heard with the stetho-
 scope give the physician some little idea of the state of the heart and the valves. It is a very important thing
 to know in any case.

Estimated or gauged from this
 modern physiological viewpoint,
 which affords a clearer understanding of heart disease than was possible
 from the old anatomical viewpoint,
 it is pertinent to say that many a heart is better than it sounds. Many a heart that murmurs in normal
 man, but in prospect of any major

 The Sun and Mars rule this day in

It is a day most auspicious for
 bishops and other heads of church
 organizations, aiming for access of power and spread of influence.
 During this away association with men and women whose friendship is desirable, and that to be productive of future benefits.

Under this rule it is wise to visit relatives or other persons likely to be helpful in worldly affairs.
 Growth of religious interest again
 is anticipated, and wishes new fol-

 the old faiths will gain many

Prejudice and misapprehension will cause dissensions and troubles between persons of different leanings this year when political ambitions are strong.
 For the Roman Catholic church the
 seers prophesy a year of big events
 and that the body of Christ will

 phesy a serious illness, for he will have many new anxieties, the seers
 prophesy.

Constructive thought should be stimulated by this rule which makes
 for the focusing of the mental powers.
 Physicians, nurses and all who al-lieviate human suffering may be called on for severe service at this time, for epidemics are foreboded.

Hospitals are subject to a favorable way at this time, and patients will be received and many gifts

 all large cities.

CHAPTER TWELVE
Dolly's Indignation
It was a steep bank, its grass-grown face diversified by rugged heads of rock and a scattering of sturdy young cedars. It certainly was not a place to traverse at full tilt, even when right side up with excessive care.

When Dolly saw horse and man disappear over the edge her heart skipped a beat. For an instant a terrific feeling of nausea bent down her will. But she altered only the instant. With the next breath she drew even as a second shot ripped her hat from her head, she faced her horse at the edge and pitched him over. Slipping, scrambling, sliding across slickerheads, twisting through cedar branches which slapped the girl's cheeks as they arched, despite the arms she flung up to protect her face, the horse went down the bank as cleverly as a jackrabbit and barely two jumps behind the dragging body of his rider.

The girl, her staring eyes frantically fixed on the foot-fall man, saw him arriving to reach his revolver, saw a flying hoof smack the weapon out of the hand of the man who had hoof striking down from Derr's clothes at every bound.

"He'll be killed!" she kept saying to herself in the most insane fashion, for it was no time to waste breath. "He'll be killed! Oh, God! Oh, God! Oh, God! Oh, God! Oh, God! Oh, God! Oh, God!"

So intent was she upon what she knew she must do that she failed to note a slight wobble on her forearm. The same bullet that had killed her horse had clipped a lock from her mother's mane and imbedded itself in the trunk of a cedar that Derr's head happened to be peering at the moment. The lurch, which had come within a hair's breadth of getting the pair of them. Some people have all the luck.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MERTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

BIRTH MARKS
Many a prospective mother is made nervous and frightened through listening to the tales of superstitious persons about the danger of marking her baby. She is afraid to mark about her fear of the marks her eyes may light upon, and that she may without willing it afflict her child with some hideous mark.

A few minutes of serious consideration would assure a person that such a condition would mark half the babies in the world. No one is able to go through any period of such a length as nine months without being subject to sights that are appalling, revolting or terrifying.

The fact that most babies are born unblemished ought to satisfy the mother that what she sees, or the frightful she experiences have no power to mark the child. The baby is entirely separated from the mother except for the cord through which nutrition is drawn from the mother's body. The nervous system of the mother is in no way connected with the child so that her emotions do not effect the baby.

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

INVESTIGATE
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a fellow for almost a year and I love him very dearly, but some of the things he does seem to make trouble for us. People tell my mother that we shouldn't go together and then she gets a fit and scolds. Please give me a bit of advice.

HEART-BROKEN.
People would hardly go to your mother and say that the young man is undesirable unless there was some glimmer of truth in it. Do not be obstinate and sacrifice a good reputation because the young man fascinates you. Unless his character is good he will make you unhappy in the end.

SHE IS WRONG
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been

WIFE.
You are really unreasonable. The fact that your husband's former wife continues to write to him in the name of the children means nothing. He would not have married you unless he loved you. If love had not been his motive, he would give me his motive. I don't want to make a fuss because otherwise they are very good to me.

AN ANSWER
Ask your husband not to read the letters from his mother to you, since they only hurt you. If you curb your jealousy and do all you can to be a good and sympathetic wife, I am sure your mother-in-law will soften toward you and in time will be able to recognize you as her own son's wife.

BEAUTY CHATS
By EDNA KENT FORBES
HOME MADE POWDERS
The making of powders at home is a subject that is always interesting to women. A great many kinds can be made at home, even a very simple same quality purchased from a beauty shop. For instance, can be made by purchasing eight ounces of rice or potato starch and two of powdered cornstarch. Dry a small amount of any perfumed oil, all of rose, oil of violets, or anything which suits your fancy, and rub this in the bottom of your powder bowl. Pour in the powder and stir occasionally. In a short time the powder will have taken on the perfume from the oil. If you make this powder in the summer months you can obtain a most delicious fresh scent by burying the petals of any favorite flower in the bowl with the powder. Fresh petals should be added every day for a week, and then the powder sifted free of the flowers through a piece of coarse cheese cloth.

A cooling and soothing bath now made by mixing powdered cornstarch with water and adding a few drops of perfume. Mix with a spoon and add a little of the mixture to a bath of lukewarm water. It is particularly good for invalids and should be rubbed all over the back after the bath. It will make the patient more comfortable and will help to prevent skin sores. You can always obtain a very fine face powder by asking your druggist for plain unscented rice powder which is much cheaper sold in bulk than when scented and done up in an expensive box. Most rice powder is nothing but powdered potato starch, but it is not in the least matter, if your skin is too dry or too oily so that no powder clings, add plain, unscented talcum, one-quarter talcum to three-quarters of rice powder.

BILL—Your lashes will grow again without doing anything to them. A girl of 15 years, height five feet two inches, should weigh about 110 pounds.
Mrs. M. R.—The preparation you mention is a trade mixture in which there is likely a certain amount of henna. Henna is always the shade that the name implies, and it is this which is used for tinting the hair without injuring it.
Mrs. M. R.—This shampoo you mention is all right to use when the hair is very oily but not for general use. A soap jelly made by shaving castile soap and leaving it stand for a day in hot water makes a handy and effective shampoo suited to any scalp.

THE OPTIMIST...

A Banquet That Was Almost a Tragedy

"Three years ago at a banquet I was stricken with acute indigestion. Two doctors worked over me for an hour before I came to. I had had several colic attacks before, but nothing like that. No doctors or medicine gave me permanent help until a friend, who was at the banquet, advised me to take a course of May's Wonderful Remedy. Which I did with wonderful results. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the entire cause of the indigestion, flatulence and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded."

Premature Old Age of Women

It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance, and the weakness which accompanies such ailments, are often caused by the lingering stage of headache, nervous and nervous conditions. Every woman who is afflicted in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for half a century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women. —Advertisement.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Suits to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bottlers or Back Hurts.
Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble. A doctor, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. They then become overactive, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, bladder and urinary irritation.

"The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and you get about four ounces of it. It is the best good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then be in fine shape. It is a safe remedy from the neck of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Bad Suits can not injure anyone; makes a delightful and healthy beverage which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. It all means have your kidneys examine your kidneys at least twice a year. —Advertisement.

"We're going to have them regularly from now on, son!"

"Mother bought a 'Wear-Ever' Griddle yesterday when she discovered that it doesn't require greasing and therefore doesn't smoke up the house."

DON'T deny yourself and family any longer the joy of the morning when there's a snap in the air and frost on the windowpane—pipin' hot, brown-as-a-nut griddle cakes!

The only objection to the making of griddle cakes has now been overcome. The new

"Wear-Ever" Sheet Aluminum Griddle

needs NO GREASE and therefore makes NO SMOKE

Griddle cakes are easy to make if you follow this simple recipe

3 cups flour 1 tablespoon salt 2 eggs 2 cups milk or water (scant) 1 tablespoon sugar 1 tablespoon butter or substitute 3 teaspoons baking powder Sift flour, salt, baking powder and sugar together. Beat eggs and milk together, add melted butter to this. Gradually stir the liquid into the dry ingredients, making a smooth batter. Heat the griddle. (Some women place a bit of batter near the outer edge of the griddle. When the batter browns, griddle is hot enough to bake cakes.) Then turn down the flame about one-half. Pour the cakes on hot griddle. When the cakes are full of bubbles, turn and brown on other side.

What's the Difference?

You Might As Well Lose It There As In Your Motor

No indifferent standing around if you caught an eighth or a quarter of your gas leaking away between the pump and your tank. You'd kick for the full paid-for measure or know the reason why not. But just as certainly as your rightful power and mileage would escape from a gashed hose, just as surely carelessly bought gas robs you in the hidden zone between carburetion and delivery of the power stroke in your motor. The rough elements of free carbon and dull, unexplosive kerosene that pad out its puny strength to full gallon appearance, are dead loss—and worse—when their unconverted mischief clogs your valves, drags at your power and menaces the safety of your oil supply.

—has no hidden leaks. Every paid-for drop registers in full-volumed power in your motor. There are no damaging residues of gritty carbon, no drench of unvaporized, unburnable kerosene to make starting difficult, power delivery feeble and dilution of oil supply a danger-fraught certainty. Because it yields greater power on a thinner mixture, it costs no more than "cheap" fuels by the mile, and it saves infinitely more in final economy.

FAIL TO TESTIFY
MONDAY BEFORE
SENATE INQUIRY

was head of the interior department. Appearing before the committee as a voluntary witness, Mr. Fehmy gave testimony yesterday even more damning than that of Archie Roosevelt, who earlier in the week had announced his resignation from the Senate organization because of the "amazing testimony" previously given to the committee and other circumstances, including what he characterized as the sudden departure of Mr. Sinclair for Europe.

During the more than two hours of cross-examination of Mr. Fehmy that followed, Chairman Lenroot asked him if, in view of the possibility that he had secured an advance in getting the contract for the loan to Mr. Fall, he was not willing to turn back the loan.

Mr. Fehmy replied that if it would clear Mr. Fall of any suspicion of having been influenced by the loan he would be "perfectly willing" to recommend such a course to his company.

With the Senate in recess over the week-end, discussion of the naval reserve lease was confined today to the committee room. Before adjourning yesterday the Senate by unanimous consent, discharged the investigating committee from further consideration of the resolution of Senator Caraway proposing cancellation of the leases. Mr. Caraway expects to press for action on the resolution Monday.

OKLAHOMA INQUIRY IS PLANNED IN MINE LEASE.

Okla.—The grant by former Interior Secretary Fall of a lease on Quapaw Indian land and land mining land in northwest Oklahoma would be offered as the subject for a United States senatorial committee investigation under a resolution which Senator Courtland C. Fournier of Oklahoma has prepared for introduction into the upper house of the state legislature today.

The resolution also would request the Senate committee investigate the Senate committee investigation of the 25 sections in the oil reserves according to maps prepared by the state bureau of mines.

The maps do not show when or how the holdings were acquired. This information has been brought

W. G. Wahlberg to the effect that

Harvey E. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil corporation had turned over to his friend, Col. William Zevoy of Muskogee, Okla., $25,000 in Liberty bonds which were not accounted for to him (Wahlberg).

This inquiry would be asked to determine whether any of the money was brought into Oklahoma for the last gubernatorial campaign, according to the resolution, which calls attention to the testimony given during the impeachment trial of former Governor T. C. Sinton "indicating rumors throughout the state" that such had been done.

AN OLD RECIPE
TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays simply ask at any drug store for "Weyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Every body uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. —Advertisement.

CAPITAL SCENE OF GENERAL TANGLE

Like Street Crowd, Everybody Headed in Different Direction.

Copyright 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—To an outsider the national capital nowadays must seem like a street crowd—everybody headed in different directions. To anyone on the ground the situation looks hardly less confusing. Not since 1912 has there been so much going on, so much that will lead nowhere, so much that is presidential politics, and so much that is the natural accumulation of public business in this, the most important session of congress in a generation.

Tax revision admittedly stands out as commanding paramount interest. It is moving along as well as can be expected. The bill is still in the hands of the ways and means committee, with efforts being made by the republicans to join with the democrats in framing a nonpartisan measure. The senate cannot tackle the subject until the house gets through with it.

All Tangled Up
So the scene is a tangled up in investigations and hearings about various questions, including the subject to recognize the soviet government in Russia, the Holc peace plan, and the Teapot Dome oil controversy.

As for Russia, the investigation will rise as to most points. The final decision is within the discretion of the president and secretary of state, anyhow. The inquiry into the alleged improper use of money in stimulating public interest in the winning Holc plan which was secured via the League of Nations is already a fiasco. The Teapot Dome investigation bids fair to be the most important of all for political purposes. At the moment the investigation has simply developed a suspicion that former Secretary Albert Fall of the interior department made a contract for the government to dispose of oil leases for which it is alleged he was in some way compensated when he resigned his place in the Harding cabinet. Suspicion isn't evidence, and Mr. Fall may be able to clear up doubts when he testifies.

Oil Makes Trouble
Oil seems to be creating all sorts of trouble not only in the tangled questions of foreign policy in the Near East but in Mexico. The administration is being criticized for helping the Obregon government with the sale of munitions and for sending American naval vessels to prevent the rebels from intercepting American commerce with Mexico, especially in the vicinity of Tampico, the heart of the oil region in Mexico. Mr. Hughes defends his policy on the ground that it is not intervention, but moral support to a government which has been recognized. President Coolidge is sailing along into the teeth of the storm. He knows tax legislation depends largely on the adroitness of his leadership. He is opposed to a soldier bonus bill but may find that congress will pass the kind of a measure he can approve, one that doesn't call for as much of an outlay of cash as has been proposed. The bonus advocates are biding their time waiting for the tax bill to reach the floor of the house and senate, where amendments can be tacked, debated and voted upon.

After the Convention
Meanwhile Mr. Coolidge finds himself concerned not about the nominating campaign, but what will come after it.

He has a fairly good start for the nomination. The "Coolidge again" clubs are increasing in number. But the alarming phase of the political outlook is the distressing situation in the agricultural regions, particularly the northwest. Mr. Coolidge's message to congress to provide machinery for financial relief for the farmers is designed, of course, to meet an economic emergency but it will have political effects. The west is restless.

The republican strength usually comes from that section. Congress is a slow moving body. Unless it acts promptly, Mr. Coolidge will hear most of the political resentment that inevitably follows. He is urging immediate action. Senator Brookhart of Iowa says that the step has come six months too late. Administration officials do not think so. They feel that the various agencies of credit which can be provided will cure the situation and that as things improve in the agricultural belt, even slightly, prestige of the administration will not be vitally damaged. The northwestern crisis is declared here to be a spot and likely to become national.

Agriculture has been under a strain for some time. The administration has been at a loss how to solve the problem. Acute outbreaks of financial trouble have accelerated action.

And this includes only a few of the important treaties are pending and appropriation bills always provide ground for debate. It's a busy winter this, in Washington.

AGED NEGRO AIDE AT CAPITAL DEAD

Washington—Richard Green is dead. Age and illness have had their way with the proud frame and sturdy will of the negro who for more than 20 years had served faithfully a long line of treasury secretaries as their confidential messenger.

Appointed to the department in 1871, Green has traveled throughout the United States and Europe and South America with various secretaries, and stationed outside the door of the treasury chief's office, his hearing has attracted the admiration of visitors.

A public reception in Green's honor was held on the occasion of his fiftieth anniversary as a treasury employee, and was attended by former Secretaries Cortelyou, Gage, Glass, McAdoo, MacVeagh, Shaw and Houston.

All spoke in his praise, but no compliment ever paid him could give him such lasting delight as the statement of Mr. Glass that he was "a Virginia gentleman."

Shoe Repair Man Wins Verdict, 5-1, in Justice Court

Termination of a case, the cause of which occurred in 1922, came in Justice Charles Lange's court Tuesday, when a judgment of costs was granted against the Artistic Ad company of New York, amounting to $27.23.

In 1922, a representative of Ellen Hart, trading under the name of the Artistic Ad company, sold Joe Donagarr, local shoe dealer and repair man, advertising cuts for use in the Gazette, and told him they would be printed for $1.50 weekly. Donagarr set to work to secure the cuts, but when the first was taken to the newspaper, he was informed it would cost him $2.75 for a single insertion, or $2.18 on a yearly contract. Feeling that this did not agree with the representations of the company, he wrote them, and told them to stop sending the cuts, but they continued to come during the year.

The bill for $108.10, which became due on July 21, 1923, was sued on with interest from that time. Donagarr demanded jury trial and won a verdict 5 to 1. Under the new rule on civil cases, it is not required that the jury agree unanimously. The case may be appealed. Those who served on the jury were: Fred Binkley, Gerald Cunningham, George H. Drummond, J. T. Lamb, Floyd Barker and Archie Field, Jr.

A. D. Graves appeared for the advertising company and C. A. Enslow for Donagarr.

Williams' Arrive on Coast After 3,200-Mile Tour

Mrs. John Heller, 220 North Jackson street, has received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. L. E. Williams, who left here a short time ago with her husband, advising her of their arrival in Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are now at the camping grounds, which is near the scene of the Clara Phillips hammer murder.

Mrs. Williams says that the desert was not hot nor very sandy, although it would be different in the summer time. They made 249 miles during the last day's ride, and the total mileage was 3,196. They left here five weeks ago and were on the road 18 days, which does not include any stop-overs. The last half of the trip was made in eight days.

Lemons at 5 cents a dozen and oranges at 25 cents for a 12-quart full are nothing uncommon there, according to Mrs. Williams. She did that data were high, but of course they were freshly picked. Mrs. Williams remarks in her letter that "the sun is surely hot today. I am sitting out of doors and I can't believe that it is January, with roses and all the green things around." Mr. and Mrs. Williams went to the central market in Los Angeles and
